Re: Work on [REDACTED]

Dear Ms. Shwiff:

On behalf of both my client, Mr. [REDACTED], and myself, I would like to express our sincere joint appreciation for your untiring and seemingly endless work as an integral, active and vital contributing member of the [REDACTED] defense team. Your efforts from the very outset at effectively gathering facts, putting them both in order and the proper context while at the same time providing critical analysis, research, investigating and alternative solutions was a key factor in enabling the defense to effectively handle the matter and keep Mr. [REDACTED] up to date with a candid assessment of the operative events.

Your task encompassed reviewing hundreds of thousands of pages, internet research, independent and self-starting investigations, searching through putative client records and government reports, and so on and so forth. Your multi-lingual skills were invaluable in a case that required interaction with multiple disparate personalities each capable of expressing polarized positions quickly formed without an adequate basis. Your diplomatic approach and investigative skills were critical.

Key among these skills was the ability to recognize and develop the channels needed to successfully communicate helpful ideas. The Assistant United States Attorney even recognized your skill set and was himself complementary of your efforts, work-product output and the results flowing therefrom.

Sincerely,

Marcus Daniel Merchasin
